Selection Process

Multidisciplinary Selection Committee (MDSC) Process

The decision for highly capable designation is made using multiple factors including, but not limited to, state and classroom assessments, Parent/Teacher recommendation(s), and Cognitive Abilities Test (CogAT), screener and full test.

The Multidisciplinary Selection Committee (MDSC) is comprised of the Program Manager, one building administrator, one psychologist, and at least one Highly Capable Program teacher. It may include a Professional Development Specialist or other certificated staff. Names of MDSC members are not published.

The MDSC designates students at highly capable using a portfolio of assessment data including classroom-based assessments, district and state assessments, parent nominations, teacher recommendations, and other educational evidence. The MDSC uses professional judgment in placing students considering each student's individual educational portfolio. The MDSC looks for best fit for individual students.

Students may voluntarily become inactive from the Highly Capable Program at any time.

The MDSC considers appeals for referred students who did not receive Highly Capable designation through the assessment and MDSC process. Appeals may be generated by the teacher, the parents, or the MDSC using the appeal form. When considering appeals, the MDSC is looking for compelling evidence that the student needs highly capable services.

The MDSC advises the program manager on program decisions particularly where placement, transportation, boundaries and other interrelated issues arise.

Conclusion:

The MDSC, operating within the constraints of the Washington Administrative Code, strives to consider the learning needs of every student who applies for the Highly Capable Program, reviewing both objective and subjective data to get as complete a profile as possible for selection and placement. No decision about selection or placement in programming is made unilaterally, but by a team of professionals who strive to ensure to the greatest extent possible fair and equitable consideration of all students applying to, eligible for, and participating in the Highly Capable Program.

Appeal Process

Appeal Process

If the Multidisciplinary Selection Committee does not see an indication of need for highly capable services, the parent(s)/guardian(s) may appeal the decision by submitting documentation (including any available state tests, district assessments, and progress reports) supporting one of the conditions below:

- A condition or circumstance believed to have caused a misinterpretation of the testing results
- An inequitable application of the identification procedures
- An extraordinary and temporary circumstance that negatively affected the validity of the test results.

Letters of appeal must accompany the documentation and contain the student's name, date of birth, school and parent's name and sent to the student's school office by the deadline stated on the score report/letter they receive. School staff may also submit appeals for students.

The Multidisciplinary Selection Committee (MDSC) will review each appeal and may recommend another assessment or an interview before making a decision. Teachers are welcome to write a letter on the student's behalf supporting the appeal but are not obligated to do so.

Parents will be informed of the Highly Capable Program Appeals Committee's decision in writing.

Appeal Denied Form

Woodland Public Schools

Woodland, WA 98674

To the Parent(s) or Guardian(s) of:

The Highly Capable Programs' Multidisciplinary Selection Committee (MDSC) met on [DATE] to determine placement and services in the Highly Capable Program classes. The Washington Administrative Code requires selection of students who are most highly capable based upon assessment data. Placements for the requested services and classrooms were based upon student data.

In determining the eligibility of students being appealed, the MDSC based its decision upon the following:

- Evidence of complex thinking
- Evidence of accelerated learning
- Evidence of the need for accelerated pacing, complexity in the curriculum, and interaction with intellectual peers
- Probability of success
- Evidence of the characteristics and behaviors of giftedness
- Achievement data
- Classroom performance
- Potential benefits to the student

After a thorough review of all data submitted through the appeal process, the MDSC determined that at this time your child is not needing services for highly capable. Therefore, the appeal was not granted for this year; however, your child may be referred for highly capable designation during the referral window in the next school year.

Please feel free to call my office at should you have any questions/concerns.

Sincerely,
Highly Capable Program Supervisor
